

CLIMATE ACADEMY WEBINAR

Natural resource managers are tasked with understanding climate change impacts and using this knowledge in making decisions. This 10-month webinar series is part of the pilot offering of Climate Academy, an online course. These webinars are designed to cover the fundamentals of climate science, provide tools and resources for climate adaptation, increase climate literacy and communication, and provide guidance for maintaining literacy using shared online resources.

Although the course is full, there is still space for those of you on the drop-in list to participate. Please follow the directions below to attend this specific webinar. Future announcements will contain similar instructions.

“Climate Projections: What Are They and What’s Coming”

Friday, November 16, 2:00-3:30 PM Eastern

*Dr. Virginia Burkett
(USGS)*

*Dr. Adam Terando
(USGS Southeast Climate Science Center)*

Description: This session will provide updated information on the current status of the rapidly-evolving science used for climate assessments and downscaling models, including a preview of several forthcoming assessment reports (e.g. National Climate Assessment and the IPCC Fifth Assessment Report). Dr. Terando will co-present and will give an overview of downscaling and some tools and reports that will be of interest we think to the participants.
