

U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service

National Conservation Training Center

Training Announcement

Environmental Education Update - Conservation Connect October 21, 2014 at 2 PM EST

Description

This distance learning series, presented quarterly by NCTC's Division of Education Outreach staff, will feature current environmental education topics and highlight upcoming environmental education courses offered by NCTC and our partners. This series is also an opportunity to share the various environmental education resources and training opportunities that are available to FWS employees and to network with colleagues and partners.

The October 21st session will feature NCTC staff: Chelsea McKinney, Kathy Sholl, Brett Billings and Randy Robinson as the present on Conservation Connect - new web-based video series produced by NCTC which aims to connect youth, ages 9-13 (although any age is encouraged to enjoy!), with the great outdoors, wildlife species, and conservation careers.

Objectives

Upon completion of this webinar series, participants will be able to:

- List three current/ relevant environmental education topics that can be addressed at their FWS site
- Identify at least two environmental education resources/lesson plans that can be used at their FWS site
- Identify at least two environmental education training opportunities available for FWS employees and other conservation professionals

Session Date:

October 21st, 2014 at 2 PM EST

Who Should Attend

Project managers, Resource managers, Visitor services professionals, Park Rangers, educators, outdoor recreational planners, and anyone whose resource management efforts would be enhanced or supported by youth initiatives

Length

60 minutes, on-line through Livestream

Tuition

No cost.

How To Join Us:

No registration! Just Join Us:

Link: <http://nctc.fws.gov/broadcasts>

Contact

Michelle Donlan: 304-876-7685

Michelle_Donlan@fws.gov